

ACCESS AND EQUITY POLICY AND PROCEDURE

PURPOSE

The Central Coast Community College (the College) is committed to providing all students with equal benefits and opportunities to pursue their educational goals and participate in programs offered by the College. This policy and procedure is used to integrate access and equity principles and to treat equally and fairly all students and all individuals seeking to enrol into the VET courses and all training and assessment activities it conducts.

APPLICATION OF THE POLICY

This policy and procedure applies to all College students, staff and training activities.

DEFINITIONS

Access and equity means policies and approaches aimed at ensuring that VET is responsive to the individual needs of students whose age, gender, cultural or ethnic background, disability, sexuality, language skills, literacy or numeracy level, unemployment, imprisonment or remote location may present a barrier to access, participation and the achievement of suitable outcomes.

Access and Equity principles include:

- Equity for all people through the fair and appropriate allocation of resources
- Equality of opportunity for all people without discrimination
- Access for all people to appropriate quality training and assessment services
- Increased opportunity for people to participate in training

Disadvantaged groups include the following groups who traditionally have been under-represented in Vocational Education and Training (VET):

- People with a disability
- LGBTQIA Community
- Aboriginals and Torres Strait Islanders
- Women
- People from non-English speaking backgrounds
- People in rural and remote areas
- Long term unemployed

Direct discrimination is any action which specifically excludes a person or group of people from a benefit or opportunity, or significantly reduces their chances of obtaining it, because their status or personal characteristics, irrelevant to the situation e.g., sex, ethnic origin, etc, are applied as a barrier. Direct discrimination focuses on differences between people.

Indirect discrimination is the outcome of rules, practices and a decision which treats people equally and therefore appear to be neutral; but which, in fact, perpetuate an initially unequal situation and therefore significantly reduce a person's chances of obtaining or retaining a benefit or opportunity. Rules, practices and decisions are applied to all groups alike, but it is the very assumption of a likeness that constitutes the discrimination.

A system of discrimination perpetuated by rules, practices and decisions which are realised in actions that are discriminatory and disadvantage a group of people because of their status or characteristics and serve to advantage others of different status or characteristics. Direct and indirect discrimination contribute to systemic discrimination.

Equity focuses on outcomes. Equity is not concerned with treating people in the same way; it is concerned with ensuring that all groups of people participate and benefit to the same level.

Legislation includes

- Age Discrimination Act 2004
- Australian Human Rights Commission Act 1986
- Disability Discrimination Act 1992
- Racial Discrimination Act 1975
- Sex Discrimination Act 1984
- Equal Opportunity Act 2010 (VIC)
- Anti-Discrimination Act 1991 (QLD)

Reasonable Adjustments means making adjustments to ensure equal opportunity for students with disabilities. The nature of reasonable adjustments is such that they are designed to minimise the disadvantage experienced by students with a disability, rather than provide students with a competitive advantage. They can include administrative, physical or procedural modifications.

Sexual harassment is defined by the Commonwealth Sexual Discrimination Act 1984 as when a person:

- makes an unwelcome sexual advance or an unwelcome request for sexual favours; and/or
- engages in unwelcome conduct of a sexual nature, and a reasonable person would have anticipated that the person harassed would be offended, humiliated or intimidated
